Special Issue: Reading in Less Commonly Taught Languages
Edited by Neil Anderson

Editorial Board, About RFL, and Information for Contributors

From the Editors
pp. i–ii

From the Guest Editor
pp. iii–iv

Special Issue Articles

Character reading fluency, word segmentation accuracy, and reading comprehension in L2 Chinese Helen H. Shen & Xin Jiang
pp. 1–25

The effects of large-group instruction, modeling, or see the sound/visual phonics on undergraduate students learning to read Italian Traci M. Cihon, Zachary Morford, Christopher J. Stephens, Dorothy Morrison, Rachael Shrontz, & Kimberly L. Kelly
pp. 26–51

Regular Articles

Word recognition subcomponents and passage level reading in a foreign language Junko Yamashita
pp. 52–71

A model of motivation for extensive reading in Japanese as a foreign language Ryoko de Burgh-Hirabe & Anne Feryok
pp. 72–93

Reviews

Mastering Academic Reading
Lawrence J. Zwier with contributions by Matthew S. Wettig reviewed by Nancy Meredith
pp. 94–97
External Reviewers

Copy Editors

Grace Cassagnol, Danielle Combs, Jennifer Holdway, Jake Kletzien, Melissa Kim, Sunhee Kim, Jessica Miranda, Mike Misner, Jeongyeon Park